Office 365 Import Service

We are thrilled to announce the new Office 365 Import Service, which provides two new options for speeding up the process of importing PST files into Exchange Online mailboxes.

- Option 1: For smaller sets of data, we are enabling network uploads of PST files to Microsoft servers, which we then import into Exchange Online mailboxes.
- Option 2: For larger datasets, you can copy PST archive files onto hard drives and mail them directly to Microsoft datacenters. Once we receive the drives, we copy the PST files to internal servers and then import the mail into Exchange Online mailboxes.

What's new in Office 365 administration

Greater transparency with new Office 365 reporting dashboards

To truly understand how your organization is running, you need to see how your end users are consuming the services. Today, we introduced both a new and improved reporting dashboard and an Office 365 content pack for Power BI. With the new reporting dashboard, you get a better user interface with greater visibility into usage across Office 365 services. The new reporting dashboard provides a much more visual reporting experience with trend and summary views. To get more details, simply select the desired reporting tile for more detailed reports. We have plans to add more reports for additional Office 365 services including Yammer and Office 365 ProPlus in the future.

Clutter for your inbox on by default

We're updating an existing feature to enhance your Office 365 experience. Starting in June, Clutter will be on by default to help more people benefit from Clutter. Last year, we introduced Clutter, which moves less important emails out of your inbox and keeps you focused what's most important to you. We're also introducing new administrative controls for Clutter and improving how Clutter interacts with users.

This example turns off Clutter for users who have not already turned it on themselves:

```
This example turns off Clutter for users who have not already turned it on themselves:
```

```
Get-Mailbox | ?{-not (Get-Clutter -Identity $_.Alias).IsEnabled} | `
%{Set-Clutter -Identity $_.Alias -Enable $false}
```

```
This example provides administrators an easy way to see the use of Clutter for their users:
```

$hash=$null; $hash=@{}; $mailboxes=get-mailbox; foreach($mailbox in $mailboxes) {$hash.add($mailbox.alias, `
(get-clutter -identity $mailbox.alias.toString()).isEnabled}); $hash | ft
```
